DRAGONFLY ANGELO V

Remixed by the MIGHTY Abludo Dragonfly retains much of her playful nature from the original which was a very important factor in its creation. Abludo take you back to '95 with a 2019 jungle pop twist to give it a different edge and you another perspective on the energy of the Dragonfly.

If you liked her first-time round wait 'til you hear her like this! This wasn't a procedural remix but one that felt right and that adds energy and optimism to an already optimistic track while retaining much of Angelo's distinctive tuneful pop vocal delivery.

This is a somewhat of a musical marriage made in Heaven; Abludo is one of Angelo's most favourite electronic producers at the moment whose work he admires and who he has a lot of respect for and Abludo is so grateful to have exciting tracks and in his words he is 'very lucky to be able to have worked with such awesome vocals'.

As in the original song Abludo recognised the importance of the vocals which again guide us through the track keeping it playful and light however, his distinction lies in that pulsating yet reassuring bass injecting that strong buzz of the Dragonfly throughout.

Abludo excels in his mastery of the vocal splicing which he utilises skilfully towards the end of the song creating a feeling excitement and adventure, the whole spirit of the Dragonfly.

Dragonfly the Abludo Remix is out on the 26th August and will be available on all digital outlets.
